Key Indicator: 2.2 Catering to Student Diversity

QIM2.2.1 The institution assesses the learning levels of the students and organises special programmes for Advanced Learners and Slow Learners. (Theory 500 words)

The college implements a policy to assess the learning levels of students through which the learning levels of the students are identified on the base of their scores in HSC examination. Students having score below 55% in HSC exam, then the student is considered as slow learners and the score above 75%, the student is considered as advanced learners.

For Slow Learners Remedial teaching and extra coaching classes are conducted for subjects like Mathematics, English, Accountancy and Economics. Problem solving sessions/revision sessions/extra sessions are arranged. Students are guided about writing skills also. They are counseled by the mentor teachers.

Slow learners are motivated to join in the regular stream. PPT's and E-Books are provided to enhance the interest of slow learners in their studies. Presentations help the students to improve soft skills, communication skills and presentation skills. It helps to minimize the stage phobia of the students. Library provides books, magazines and online resources. The reading section is available for all students during college working hours which help to improve the reading habit of the students. Books for competitive exams are also available. Separate section for girls help to pursue their goal for appearing competitive exams. Internet facility through free Wi-Fi zone is available on the college campus. It helps in boosting extra-curricular and practical knowledge of the students.

For Advanced Learners students are counseled to participate and contribute in Regional / State / National and International level workshops/seminars/conferences/technical events, to promote entrepreneurial and research capabilities. It is ensured these students participating actively in guest lectures.

Advanced learners are encouraged to participate in different programs organized in the college premises and out of the premises. Advance learners participate in the seminars, different levels of competitions at university level such as 'Avishkar'. TeXpert is an event organized by the BBA(CA) department every year which helps the students to acquire the knowledge of field work by getting involved in society where students raise funds for this programme. Advanced learners are provided with the coaching by the faculty members about competitive examinations, professional courses guidance from the concerned experts of CA, CS and ICWA and also introduced with the entrance test pattern for MBA.

1. Explain the types of reports in detail.

1) Report Writing

Meaning :-

The simple meaning of report is that "it is only a summary of information." This is a written communication to the needy person about an activity, from a person who studies and compiles the required from a required angle.

A report may be informative or fact finding.

A report is a statement of facts relating to an activity, which is essential for evaluation of that activity and to take a decision related to it. It is a statement prepared to present facts relating to planning, co-ordinating performance and the general state of the business in an organisation or in any other place.

2) Definition :-

A business report is the factual presentation of data or information directed to a particular reader or audience for a specific business purpose. It is a highly specialised type of communication, presenting a collection of facts to be communicated to someone who will make use of them. It is flexible in subject content, organisation, form, and use.

3. Types of Special Reports

First Information Report:

this is required when there is a disaster like fire, building collapse, robbery or accident in an organization. It is prepared by a responsible person on-the-spot or the person in charge, for submission to a higher authority, for example the branch manager prepares it for submission to Regional Office or Head Office. The report has to give all the information which is available immediately after the incident occurs. It must state what happened, about what time, who first noticed it, and what steps were taken immediately. It also states the extent of destruction or loss of life, property, important papers, etc. as can be estimated immediately.

* Investigation report :-

This is written after making a thorough study and inquiry. An investigation is made when there is a problem and the management needs to find out the causes of the problem, and needs suggestions for solving it. For example, falling sales, declining deposits in a bank, many customer complaints, losses in a branch, etc.

A committee may be appointed to find out the causes of the problem, and suggest measures to prevent it from occurring again. It requires collection of facts which are not always easy to get, the collected information has to be analyzed; conclusions have to be drawn and recommendations have to be made. Since such reports required a greater deal of work, thinking, discussion and consideration, they are usually assigned only to a Committee of competent and experienced persons. A simple investigation of a small problem may be assigned to an individual who has knowledge and experience in the field.

* Feasibility or Survey Report:

A feasibility report is required when an organization intends to launch a new product in the market, introduce a new service, or make any major changes that may affect the company's customers. The proposed field or area has to be surveyed, and its conditions observed and recorded. The factors to be noted and recorded depend on the purpose of the survey. The purpose may be to consider the suitability of a site for a factory, to evaluate the feasibility and financial viability of a proposal, to survey the market and to estimate damage.

For some purposes only a physical survey and inspection of the area may suffice; for others, availability of essential requirements in the area, attitude of the local people, state governments' policies, expenses, etc, will be needed.

A survey may be made by an individual or by a committee, depending on the size of the survey to be made.

For example, if a factory is to be established, the survey involves a great deal of work, and a committee would be appointed; if damage to a piece of machinery is to be surveyed for the purpose of estimating the loss, an engineer can do it alone.

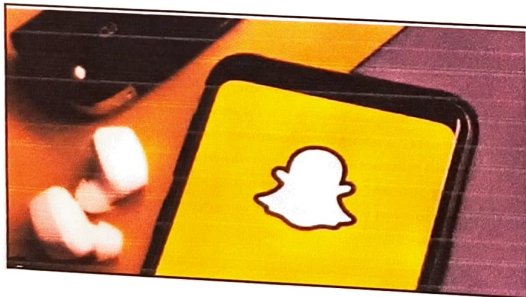

* Project Report:

A project report is written after a proposal takes shape, and after the preliminary survey has been completed. It describes the proposal as projected into the future, showing the cash flow and expected results. It is used for planning and also for convincing others, especially sanctioning and funding authorities like government departments and banks.

A project report is not assigned. It is prepared by persons who want to get their proposal sanctioned.

Snapchat is a mobile app that allows users to send and receive "self - destructing" photos and videos. Photos and videos taken with the app are called snaps. Snapchat uses the device's camera to capture snaps and send them out to other snapchat .

Important notification. 📢📢

Simply put the time sensitive notification features on snapchat gives some messages or snap a higher priority. Immediately user attention to ensure you don't miss anything important

🔧 Features 📱

- Best Friend forever cpinad #1Best Friends,👤
- Custom app theme editor ●
- Friend solar system
- Post view Emoji,👤
- Story time📷
- Customer Notification Sound🔊
- Free Dream👁️
- Reply Again 🔄

Scope

Snapchat doesn't reveal the equation they use to calculate your Snapchat score. The company confirmed in an email to USA TODAY. The score is determined by the number of Snapchat you've sent and received, the Snapchat stories you've posted and other undisclosed factors.

👉 Advantage, 👈

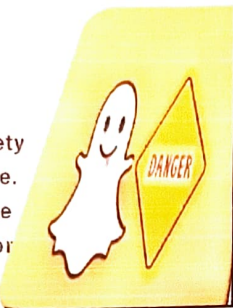

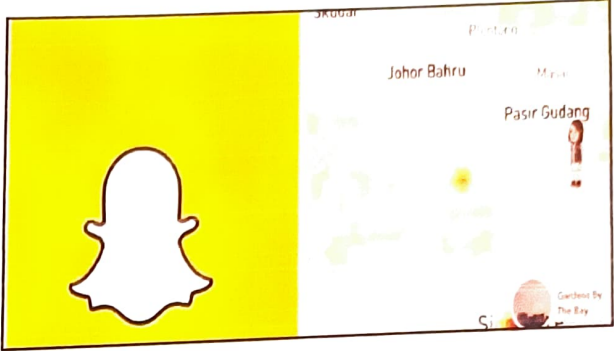

Authentic Communication Sanpchat allows users to send photos, videos, and message that disappear after a short time, fostering candid, in the moment conversation among friends. It's self destructing content encourages users to share unfiltered moment without fear of long-term consequences.

Disadvantage

Snapchat is safe for teens as long as it's used correctly, fortunately, the app features parental control options to improve the general safety of teens using the app. For instance, as a parent or guardian, you can use parental control features to monitor some of your teen's activities on Snapchat.

Q- Explain the types of reports in details.

• Introduction -

Business enterprises are undergoing a change today and they are becoming more and more learning enterprises. Although "profit earning" is the focal point of a business, each enterprise involved in business activity has to adopt various strategies to satisfy its customers. Added to this, there is change in the size of the business and the activities of the state are also widening. In this environment, every business and the activities of the state are also every business has to be alert and should watch the developments that are not taken arbitrarily and are based on the facts available concerning the issue. Management Information System (MIS) has become a vital tool today to provide necessary business data to take sound business decisions.

A publishing firm interested in introducing into the market a new series of paperbacks has to ask for a report on the current reader preference. The managing Director of a bank would like to get a report on the efficacy of the measures introduced by him to promote efficiency in the branch offices. A textiles firm may have been using various modes of publicity - messages broadcasted on radio, slides flashed on television or the cinema screen, hoardings on the roadside,

From time to time, the Government sets up committees to report on various issues of social, political and economic importance to the country. In the seventies, the Wanchoo Committee was appointed to report on the causes of tax evasion and generation of black money. The Malhotra Committee was set up to report on the various aspects of insurance. Recently the Nazurimham Committee prepared a report on the structure, organisation, functions and procedures.

• Meaning -

The simple meaning of report is that "it is only a summary of information". This is a written communication to the needy person about an activity, from a person who studies and compiles the required from a required angle. A report may be informative or fact finding. A report is a statement of facts relating to an activity, which is essential for evaluation of that activity and to take a decision related to it. It is statement prepared to present facts relating to planning, co-ordinating performance and the general state of the business in an organisation or in any other place. Therefore, a report is a written statement based on the collection of facts, events and opinions usually expressed in a summarised form.

• Definition and Nature of a Business Report -

A business report is the factual presentation of data or information directed to a particular reader or audience for a specific business purpose. It is a highly specialised type of communication, presenting a collection of facts to be communicated to someone who will make use of them. It is flexible in subject content, organisation, form, and use.

A business report may record past transactions or accomplishments, release new information or ideas, give an account of conditions: past and present, analyse conditions for determining future policies, or recommend a course of action to be followed. Data may consist of notes, quoted material, statistics, tables, charts, figures etc. all the result of some method of investigation and research, or else the report writer may have first-hand information which he presents from his own experience and knowledge.

Before a report is written, facts are classified, arranged, examined, evaluated, interpreted, and recorded. Emphasis in writing is on presenting the facts to accomplish a specific purpose. They must, therefore, be clearly stated. Visual aids help, as does the division of material into sections and the use of subject headings. Because the report is directed to words the reader and his use of it, it must be adapted to his needs. Thus every report is different, varying according to the reader, to the nature of the material, to purpose, and to the writer.

• Persuasive Reporting -

Persuasive report writing intends to convince readers to believe in an idea or opinion and to do an action. Many writings such as criticisms, reviews, reaction papers, editorials, proposals, advertisements, and brochures use different ways of persuasion to influence readers. Persuasive writing can also be used in introduction.

A persuasive report writing is one in which an attempt to get the reader to agree with ones point of view. The writer trying to present arguments, research, and ideas in order to sway the reader one way or the other.

It is a form of non-fiction writing the writer uses to develop logical arguments, making use of carefully chosen words and phrases. But, it is believed that fiction writing should also be persuasive.

Ex. Explain the types of reports in details.

→ Informational reports: These reports present information as it is. They do not contain interpretations and conclusions. Progress reports, final reports, operating reports, sales reports, interim reports are the common forms of informational reports.

Analytical reports: These reports provide data for analysis and decision-making. They provide solution to problems and are thus, means to an end rather than end in themselves.

(A) On basis of legal formalities to be complied with, the reports can be informal reports and formal reports.

(1) Informal Reports: An informal report is usually in the form of a person to person communication. An informal report is usually submitted in the form of a letter or a memorandum.

(2) Formal Reports: A formal report is one, which is prepared in a prescribed form and is presented according to an established procedure to a prescribed authority. Formal reports can be statutory or non-statutory.

(a) Statutory Reports - A report prepared and presented according to the form and procedure laid down by law is called a statutory report.

(b) Non-statutory Reports : Formal reports which are not required under any law but which are prepared to help the management in framing policies or taking other important decisions are called non-statutory reports.

(B) On the basis of the frequency of issue a report can be periodic or special:

1. periodic or Routine - Reports that are prepared and presented at regular, prescribed intervals in the usual routine of a business firm. Branch managers of banks submit periodic reports to the Head office on the quantum of business transacted during a particular period.
2. Special Reports are related to a single occasion or situation. A report on the desirability of opening a new branch or on the unrest among staff in a particular branch are special reports.
3. Annual Reports : They are reports written annually, that is once in a year. Report of the current year and prospects in next year are parts of an annual report.

(c) On the basis of functions, a report can be informative or interpretation.

(1) Informative Reports: Reports that merely presents facts pertinent to an issue or a situation or presents production figures in a particular period, they are informative.

(2) Interpretative Reports - They go into the causes of lower productions in that period, become analytical, interpretative or investigative.

(d) On the basis of the nature of the subject dealt with:

The reports can be progress report, recommendation reports, statistical reports, problem determining reports, technical reports, fact-finding reports, and performance reports.

(1) Progress Reports are meant to describe and assess progress made during a particular period.

(2) Examination Reports are specially earmarked to cover important aspects or events. They are prepared after thorough investigation, old files are studied, personal interviews are held, questionnaires are circulated etc.

(3) Recommendation Reports conclude with recommendation and such reports are argumentative and persuasive.

- (4) Statistical Reports are largely made up of financial data, mathematical Charts, tabular columns of figures etc.
- (5) In problem-determining report, the causes under-lying a problem or to ascertain whether or not the problem actually exists is determined.

(E) On the basis of the number of persons entrusted with the drafting of reports, reports can be reports by individuals and reports by Committees or sub-Committees.

- (1) Reports by individuals - Reports submitted by the Branch Manager, Personal Manager, Marketing Manager, the Company Secretary, the Auditor, the solicitor, etc.
- (2) Reports by Committees or sub-Committees - Sometimes, reports are needed on subject that concern more than one department, or they are so important that it is thought advisable to associate more than one person with them.

(F) On the basis of structure of the reports. A report can be short or detailed report:

- (1) Short Reports: In short reports it is customary to arrange items in a systematic and logical form is that.
- (2) Detailed Report - They are lengthier reports, which include a table of contents and a synopsis etc.

Respected Sir,

As per our previous communication, we request you to conduct the guiding lectures on every Saturday at 3.00 p.m. to 4.00 p.m. for Advanced Learner Students in our college for the academic year 2023-24. Those students are selected who are having score above 75% for this course at H. S. C. level. These lectures will be conducted for 3 months from January 2024 to March 2024.

Your guidance would definitely prove to be helpful for our Advanced Learner Students to achieve their aims in future.

Thanking You.

Yours Faithfully,

Principal,
